CASPER, Wyo. (AP) - Wyoming women who want to start and grow a small business can get advice from the U.S. Small Business Administration, which is sponsoring a series of Web chats during October.

The chats will feature experts who will give advice to women on how to assemble a business plan, enter competitive markets and establish the foundation of a profitable enterprise.

Participants can join the live chat and also post questions beforehand by visiting www.sba.gov and clicking on the Web chat event under "What's New." The chats will be held between Oct. 4 and Oct. 25.
