(CHADRON)-A new yearly magazine produced by Chadron State College students was distributed late last week. The first issue of Acclaim, a 48-page full-color publication produced by the CSC Media Club, was distributed to students Friday, Dec. 7. The magazine features content from CSC students and graduates from a variety of learning disciplines and was funded with money generated by Student Activity Fee. T. J. Thomson of Golden, Colo., served as the magazine’s editor. Faculty members in the Communication and Social Sciences Department provided oversight and guidance. The magazine, which is free for students, was distributed to resident students through mail and was made available Friday in the Student Center for commuters. Others can buy a copy for $5. They are available in Old Admin 235. —CSC Information Services
