(Wyo.)-House Approves Bible Class For High School Bill

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) - The state House of Representatives has approved a bill that would make it clear Wyoming public high schools can offer elective biblical study courses.

The House voted 44-15 in favor of the bill Thursday. House Bill 130 now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Republican Rep. Stephen Watt, of Rock Springs, says the intention of his proposal isn't to advocate for or against any particular religion.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled several times that public schools can offer classes about the Bible but can't use it for devotional purposes.
