RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) - Authorities are searching for an inmate who left his work assignment at the Rapid City minimum-security facility.

A release from the South Dakota Department of Corrections says 54-year-old Freddy Lawrence left the Rapid City Minimum Unit Wednesday morning. The department says security cameras show Lawrence left the facility on a bicycle just after 7 a.m.

Lawrence is serving a five-year sentence for possession of a controlled substance out of Minnehaha County and another five-year sentence for possession of a controlled substance out of Pennington County.
