Spitzer says the next item in line is picking up litter all around town.

Spitzer said the last part of the cleanup focuses on different gardening pods that are located downtown, and who else do you call to clean them, the pod squad.

Spitzer says that even when the Great American Cleanup isn't taking place, they have locations that residents can take items to recycle.

Spitzer says they will have some other projects coming up over the summer and encourages the residents of Hot Springs to get involved.
