(Chadron)-The Chadron State College music department has scheduled several fall choral concerts throughout the month of November.

The first concert this Sunday will be held at 3 pm. in the Chadron Arts Center. The Chadron Community Choir and CSC Concert Choir will give a vocal concert that afternoon. The Community Chorus will begin the program with a set of English, Irish, and American folk songs featuring Lauren Stephens on flute, Kimberly Murphy on violin, and Dr. James Margetts, Dr. Una Taylor and Kimberly Murphy on piano. The CSC Concert Choir will join them for their last folk song, "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

The CSC Concert Choir will continue the concert with several acapella songs, featuring a secular program of poetic texts, set to music. Their performance will include a set of five pieces, composed by Eric Whitecre, based on the works of E. E. Cummings poems, the city and the sea, and a beautiful set of pieces based on thematic material and imagery inspired by nature.

On Nov. 10, which is the following Sunday, at 3 p.m. in the Chadron Arts Center, Arioso and the men's ensemble will perform a wide variety of musical selections. Pamela Shuler will play clarinet, Ann Sundberg will be featured on cello, and Kimberly Murphy will play drums and piano.

The following Sunday, Nov. 17, also at 3 p.m. Dr. Una Taylor will perform a vocal recital in the Mari Sandoz Chicoine atrium. Taylor will be accompanied by Kimberly Murphy on piano.
