CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) - The Wyoming Game and Fish Department is no longer printing its hunting information and application booklet.

Instead, the booklet will now be made available only online at <http://wgfd.wyo.gov>.

The booklet in the past has been mailed to nonresident hunters and provided to resident hunters at department offices and license agents.

Game and Fish license section manager Jean Cole says as online applications for big game and turkey licenses grow in popularity among hunters, the printed application booklet was losing importance and becoming a needless expense.

This year, 90 percent of nonresidents and 83 percent of residents used online applications for big game and turkey.
