RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) - South Dakota's Board of Regents says the search for a new president for the South Dakota School of Mines and Technology has been narrowed to four finalists.

They are acting president Duane Hrcir; Rochester Institute of Technology dean H. Fred Walker in New York; Desert Research Institute President Stephen Wells in Nevada; and entrepreneur and former Congresswoman Heather Wilson of New Mexico.

The finalists are scheduled to be on the Rapid City campus on Thursday and Friday.

The Board of Regents is seeking a successor for former Mines President Robert Wharton, who died last September.
