(Rushville)-Roads in Sheridan County are somewhat messy due to recent snowmelt runoff, but Road Superintendent Tom Kuester says they are not as severe as the road issues in Dawes and Sioux Counties.

According to Kuester, there is water over some of the roads in spots, but as of this time, they have not received reports of any washouts. He does urge caution, however, as the roads are very muddy.

Crews will continue to monitor the situation in Sheridan County, and if any issues arise that information will be announced on air at KCSR/KBPY and posted online at Chadrad.com.
