(Chadron)- The Fur Trade Days flea market will be taking place from noon today through Sunday evening. Close to forty vendors will have items on display, for those enjoying the outdoors to view.

One of the events taking place at the flea market will be the Freedom Express, a trackless train that will be giving rides to both children and adults. Cost to ride is three dollars a piece and it will be giving rides all day Saturday following the parade.

Also appearing at the flea market is Black Hills Sunrooms also known as Midwest Window Brokers of Rapid City. They will have a sunroom on hand for those interested to sit in them.

The healing waters committee of Hot Springs will also be at the flea market on Saturday. They will have information for you about Evans Plunge, recently purchased by the city of Hot Springs.

The flea market is being held on the courthouse lawn at the intersection of Main and 4th street.
