FARGO, N.D. (ASSOCIATED PRESS) - Wheat stocks are up significantly in the Dakotas over the year.

The Agriculture Department in its latest report says stocks of all types of wheat in North Dakota on June 1 totaled 84.2 million bushels, up 22 percent from 2012. In South Dakota, they totaled 32.2 million bushels, up 37 percent.

Corn and soybean stocks were up in North Dakota but down in South Dakota.
