SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) - A Scottsbluff man has been accused of beating his pregnant girlfriend.

Court documents say 21-year-old Jose Flores, Jr. attacked his girlfriend on Aug. 25. He is accused of hitting her while she was seven months pregnant, after she refused to have sexual contact with him at a motel.

Documents say Flores punched the woman four times while holding her down. He is accused of breaking her phone and refusing to let her leave the room.

Flores faces charges of third-degree domestic assault of a pregnant woman and first-degree false imprisonment. Bond has been set at $250,000.

A message left for Flores' attorney was not immediately returned Monday.
